

Confirmation

I confirm that I have been informed about and have understood the following:

- Entry to Germany is currently subject to restrictions because of the pandemic. On its own, the visa issued to me does not entitle me to enter Germany.
- The visa issued to me only allows me to enter Germany if I present recognised proof upon entry that I have been fully vaccinated against the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus (proof of vaccination).
- The conditions that this proof of vaccination must meet have been explained to me.
- I am aware in particular that I must be fully vaccinated with one or different vaccines approved by the European Medicines Agency (EMA) or with equivalents of these vaccines used in third countries.
- The proof of vaccination must be written in German, English, French, Italian or Spanish.
- Information about the exact requirements for complete vaccination and proof thereof that enables people to enter Germany despite the pandemic-related travel restrictions is available online at <https://www.bmi.bund.de/SharedDocs/faqs/EN/topics/civil-protection/coronavirus/coronavirus-faqs.html>, under point IV. Restrictions applying to air and sea travel outside of the European Union (entering Germany from a non-EU member state) and What rules apply for fully vaccinated people?
- Children under the age of 12 who are not yet vaccinated can enter the country with proof of a negative test result (PCR test or antigen test) when accompanied by at least one fully vaccinated parent. Children under the age of six do not require proof of a negative test result.
- If I am not able to present acceptable proof of vaccination, I may not enter Germany and will be turned away at the German border. Furthermore, transport companies, in particular airlines, may refuse to allow me to travel to Germany.
- If I am turned back at the border upon my arrival at a German airport, the airline will fly me back to my departure airport and can charge me for the costs incurred.
- Only when someone arrives at a German airport or border do the border police officers decide whether or not to allow them to enter Germany.

Furthermore, I confirm

1. that, prior to entering Germany, I will have been fully vaccinated against the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus (as described above); and
2. that I will submit acceptable proof of vaccination (as described above) on entry.
